#38 Carroll University, Waukesha, Wis.

All the meals at Carroll University are made in house, from scratch, and are never ever frozen, so students always have the freshest options — including fresh herbs and peppers from an on-campus garden. And we guarantee you will never be bored with Carroll's weekly events, especially since they've hosted awesome options like the Halloween Zombie Attack dinner and chef-hosted tastings. As for sustainability, Carroll University has partnered with Greener Fields Together, which uses a seed-to-fork approach to engage students and provide them with fresh, environmentally sound produce. As for recent developments, an eatery called Grill Nation opened last fall, a newly purchased grinder and dehydrator turns uneaten food into compost, and this year, all incoming freshmen will receive reusable to-go containers in order to completely eliminate the use of disposable plates and boxes in the main dining room. Carroll University was also recognized by PETA with an "A" grade for its efforts in providing vegetarian and vegan options.
